

AMENDMENTS TO THE CLAIMS

1. (Currently amended) A wraparound garment comprising:

a rectangular body section having a length dimension and at least four edges
including a top edge;

said edges having at least two horizontally opposite corners located substantially
at the two ends of the top edge;

a pair of adjustable shoulder straps ~~located on~~ each having two ends, wherein said ends of one strap are secured to one of the horizontally opposite corners of the top edge of the length dimension before a wearer dons the garment and said ends of the other strap are secured to the other horizontally opposite corner of the top edge of the length dimension before a wearer dons the garment;

wherein said pair of adjustable shoulder straps alone provide sufficient support and to secure the wraparound garment upon a torso of a the wearer.

2. (Currently amended) A wraparound garment comprising:

a rectangular body section having a length dimension and at least four edges
including a top edge;

said edges having at least two horizontally opposite corners located substantially
at the two ends of the top edge;

a pair of adjustable shoulder straps ~~located on~~ each having two ends, wherein said
ends of one strap are secured to one of the horizontally opposite corners of the top edge of the length dimension before a wearer dons the garment and said ends of the other strap are secured to the other horizontally opposite corner of the top edge of the length dimension before a wearer dons the garment;

a pair of openings formed by the attachment of the adjustable shoulder straps to said rectangular body section;

wherein a the wearer inserts an arm into one opening, wraps said rectangular body section completely around the torso, inserts the ~~opposite~~ other arm into the second opening, and adjusts the shoulder straps.